PLEASE NOTE: Face masks are required to be worn during Mass at St. John's except in the case of a medical exemption. We thank you for your cooperation in following the guidelines and in helping to make everyone feel safe and welcome at Mass.

From the Archdiocese of Boston:

Holy Communion must be distributed in a way that is safe: The priest and/or extraordinary minister must disinfect his or her hands before distributing Communion. The priest and/or extraordinary minister must wear a mask while distributing Communion. The communicant must wear a mask while receiving Communion. After the minister has moved on to the next person, or after the communicant has stepped aside, they should remove their mask, consume the Host, and put their mask back on before returning to their seats. The norm must be that communion is given in the hands. In the case of a person insisting on receiving on the tongue, if the priest feels comfortable doing so, he can disinfect his hands, give the communicant Holy Communion on the tongue, disinfect his hands again, and continue distributing Communion. This is an exception, and must not be the norm in a parish. Some priests, because of their own health vulnerabilities, may decide that they are not comfortable giving a person Holy Communion on the tongue even as an exception, and their concerns must be respected.

Your Prayers Are Needed

The Lay Moment: Vatican II and the Universal Call to Holiness

Clergy scandals, marriage and family life under attack, growing secularism, a world angry and confused. Augustine Institute Dr. Tim Gray explains why he believes that "we are entering an age that is similar to the age of the early Church." He outlines the goals of Vatican II and the critical vocation of the laity in the renewal of the Church and the salvation of the world. "To be a real, faithful Christian in this culture, you are going to have to swim upstream...the Church will be renewed because we will have to stand in the face of the cross - the test of love." For this title and other selections, please stop by our media kiosk in the parish center hallway.

Host Family Needed

Even in this time of COVID-19, international students want to study at Hopkinton High School. Would you host an Italian, Catholic, senior boy coming to HHS for the second semester? Hopkinton host families hosting Italian students now have found the experience to be occasionally challenging but deeply rewarding. The students here all have been very careful and respectful of pandemic household rules. Alessandro loves to ski, play tennis and volleyball. He currently attends a scientific high school near Turin and loves music, film, art and architecture. He studies Chinese language as well as English and would love to experience life with an American family. Educatus provides families a monthly stipend. If you would like to learn more about hosting him please contact Ann Northup, Educatus Group, at ann.northup@gmail.com or call 508-480-8513.

CROSS ROADS

By Deacon Tony

1Samuel 3: 3-10, 19; Psalm 40: 2, 4, 7-10;

1Corinthians 6: 13-15, 17-20; John 1: 35-42

In today's gospel, when John the Baptist saw Jesus walking by, he said "Behold the Lamb of God." Immediately, two of the Baptist's disciples, Andrew, the brother of Simon, and (by tradition) John, son of Zebedee, followed Jesus. The first thing Jesus said to them was, "What are you looking for?" They did not seem to know how to answer, so they asked a question, "Rabbi, where are you staying?" Jesus then invited them to "Come, and you will see." They accepted the invitation and spent the day with Jesus. Late in the day the first thing Andrew did was to find his brother Simon, tell Simon that they had found the Messiah (though it seems to me that the Messiah had found them). Andrew brought Simon to Jesus; and seeming to know Simon, Jesus greeted Simon by saying, "You are Simon the son of John; you will be called Cephas" (Peter).

In today's first reading the Lord called Samuel three times. After the third time, Eli explained to Samuel that it was the Lord who was calling; and Eli counseled Samuel on how to answer. When the Lord called Samuel a fourth time, Samuel answered, "Speak, for your servant is listening." It is written that "Samuel grew up, and the Lord was with him, not permitting a word of his to be without effect." Today's psalm tells us that if we cry out to the Lord with a listening and obedient ear, with the Lord's law written in our hearts and souls, the Lord hears us. Saint Paul reminds us that through our Baptisms we are joined with Jesus, that we are not our own, that we were purchased at a great price (the life death and resurrection of the Christ), that we are to be aware that our bodies are Temples of the Holy Spirit, and that we are to conduct ourselves accordingly.

The Lord speaks to us in many ways: through the Gospel, through His Church and its leaders, through friends and relatives, in prayer, through opportunities to help others, etc. Begin with prayer, praising the Lord, petitioning the Lord, acknowledging that we are HIS. In prayer each of us might ask, "Am I listening? Do I have HIS law written in my heart and soul? Am I willing to do HIS will, or am I just willful? Will I allow the Lord to shape me as he did for Samuel? Am I willing to bring others to Jesus, as Andrew did? What am I looking for?" Then, LISTEN, because like it was with Peter, the Lord knows us better than we know ourselves.
